PRICE, THREE CENTS

URGE CLEANUP OF VACANT PREMISES

Co-operation of Property Owners Sought by Better Homes Committee

COMMITTEE MEETS 21st

In connection with the "Better Homes in America" week which will be celebrated in the borough April 21 to 28, an effort is being made to gain property owners' co-operation in keeping vacant lots clean and tidy.

On this score the committee has the following to say: "When a visitor or a prospective resident enters a town, his first reaction, either favorable or unfavorable, is to the general appearance—homes, stores, streets and lots. His first impression usually forecasts pretty accurately the character of the townspeople that he is going to meet. What kind of impression do you think a vacant lot full of tangled weeds and underbrush, broken bottles and trash, decrepit signs and useless buildings' rubbish, would make? An agreeable one? Most certainly not! Use a small amount of inspection about three times a day and you will probably conclude that such a lot is an eyesore both to visitors and the residents themselves, a disgrace and nuisance.

"Shall we countenance such a reflection on our public spirit? Shall we allow our pride to trail in the dust? That is not the usual role of a citizen of Narberth. Let everyone wake up, then clean up, then be happy and proud. If you want any information on this subject, address Frederic A. Egmore, 19 Elmwood avenue."

The next meeting of the Better Homes committees will occur Thursday, March 21, 8 o'clock, at the Community Building. The committees are urgently requested to be present at this meeting, and the public is cordially invited.

All Saints Fellowship Is Planning Dance

The Young People's Fellowship of All Saints Church has been busy the last few meetings in making plans for a dance. In order to finance this affair they are having a benefit at the Narberth Theater on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 3 and 4. Anyone having any connection with the Fellowship is urged to please try and do his or her part in selling tickets. Anyone contemplating going to the theater that evening is requested to buy tickets from a member of the organization.

The dance is to be held at the Merion War-Tribute House on April 26 from 9 till 1 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Fellowship. Bill Clear's Troubadours will "make" the music and prizes will be awarded for the novelty dances. It will be impossible not to have a good time at this dance and everyone who attends is guaranteed a most enjoyable evening.

Butler Honored

T. Noel Butler, of 229 Essex avenue, who was recently elected president of the Traffic Club of Philadelphia, was honored at the inaugural dinner held Monday evening at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. Mr. Butler is a charter member of the Traffic Club and has been vice president and member of the board of directors a number of times. He has also been a director of the National Industrial Traffic League for several years.

Wins Verdict

A verdict was obtained today in Judge McDevitt's Court in Philadelphia by Levis Keech, of Gladwyne, against the Beaver Spring Water Company, for $12,000 as damages for injuries sustained in an accident last year at Sixty-second and Market streets. Mr. Keech testified that he was crossing under the "L" when struck by a truck belonging to the defendant, and was not only rendered unconscious and suffered a broken foot, but he has also lost the sight of one eye, and his hearing has been impaired. Fletcher W. Stites, of Narberth, represented the injured man.

Seeks Stretch Seat

W. Russell Green, Narberth attorney, residing in the General Wayne district of Lower Merion, whose candidacy has been announced for the seat of township commissioner until recently occupied by the late James Stretch.

TWO SEEK L. M. COMMISSION POST

Patchett, Green Compete to Fill Vacancy in General Wayne

JUDGES TO APPOINT

Two entries have been placed in the list to succeed James A. Stretch, who died February 25, as Lower Merion Township Commissioner from the General Wayne election district. One is H. Powell Patchett, for whose appointment a petition was filed Tuesday. The other is W. Russell Green, whose petition will be filed, it is expected, early next week.

Mr. Patchett, who is an official of the Packard Motor Company, is a resident of the Winding Way section of Merion. Mr. Green, an attorney, came to Narberth after seeing war service, ten years ago, and has for the past six years lived at 440 Woodbine avenue.

Both are residents of the General Wayne district, which is bounded roughly by Montgomery pike, Levering Mill road, Meeting House lane, Belmont avenue, Rock Hill road, Mary Watersford road, the Schuylkill, and Mill Creek road. At the presidential election last November the district mustered 724 votes, which was considerably greater than the number usually cast in the district—one of the least populated of the thirteen in the township.

Reports that Mr. Patchett's candidacy has the support of the township Republican organization were denied this week by Township Leader Peter C. Hess and Cynwyd Committeeman and Magistrate Franklin P. Kromer, who declared that the township party

Sociologist to Speak On Family Life

"The Cultivation of Family Life" is the subject of the lecture to be given at the Women's Community Club meeting on Tuesday, March 19, in Elm Hall by Karl de Schweinitz. A sociologist and economist of note as well as one of our outstanding authors, Mr. de Schweinitz will give a full and comprehensive review of one of the most vital subjects of interest to women. For woman's life is made or marred by the family life surrounding her.

This program is under the direction of the Welfare Committee of the Club, Mrs. G. N. Gill, chairman. It will be an open meeting and members are at liberty to bring their friends and neighbors. In fact, any woman interested is welcome.

Fifty mothers and daughters are attending the Mothers and Daughters' dinner given by the American Home Committee, Mrs. W. N. Mills, Chairman, on Friday, March 15, at 6.30 P. M. The dinner is to be a home-cooked one and the entertainment will consist of a musical program, and two one-act plays to be given by Sub-Junior girls. The young ladies on the musical program are Miss E. Vennerman, Jean Staples and Ella Ross and the plays are "Two Crooks and a Lady," and "Can't Be Done."

Unique Musical Service at Methodist Church

Music lovers of the community will be afforded a novel treat at the Methodist Church on Palm Sunday evening, March 24, when a special service will be given by the new quartette choir, assisted by Harvey I. Mearns as instrumental soloist.

While the vocal numbers will form the major part of the program, much interest in being manifested in the numbers to be provided by Mr. Mearns. These will be rendered on three very unusual instruments, one of which, at least, has never been heard in Narberth before. It is called the "Anngklong Chimes" and is patterned after the native Javanese Anklang. The chimes are constructed of bell metal, thoroughly insulated with rubber and strike in a felted base, so that the tone produced is very similar to that obtained by the Javanese musicians on their crude bamboo tubes.

"The Palms" will be played on a tubular harp, while another solo will be "Bells of St. Mary's," played on Swiss hand bells.

In addition to the solos, each of the instruments will be used once to supplement the organ in the accompaniment of the hymns, so that any one who sets the evening of March 24 aside in anticipation of a special treat will not be disappointed. A large attendance of people in the community who appreciate good music is expected, whether they are affiliated with the Methodist congregation or not, and every effort is being made by the Music Committee to provide a memorable program.

BEATTY SHATTERS SWIMMING RECORD

Lower Merion Merman Strokes 200-Yard Freestyle 3 Seconds Under

3 NEW MARKS IN MEET

Three new Suburban records were established in the High Schools Individual Swimming Championships sponsored by the Central Y. M. C. A., at 1421 Arch street, Philadelphia, last Saturday afternoon. Upper Darby High School, Suburban champions, made two of them and Lower Merion, one.

Henry Beatty was the boy who splashed his way to a new record in the 200-yard freestyle, and who was the only winner for Lower Merion. Beatty's time for this race was two minutes and 37 seconds, three seconds under the old mark.

Paul Johnson and Power Coulter, winners of the 100-yard freestyle and 50-yard freestyle, respectively, were the record-breakers for Upper Darby.

Lower Merion placed second in the 100-yard relay won by Upper Darby. Klem, Evans and Nelms also took places for Lower Merion.

Johnson's time in the "100" was 1.06 4-5, while Coulter negotiated half that distance in 27 4-5 seconds.

Ralston, Upper Darby, won the fancy diving contest; Dunn, of Haverford, took the 50-yard backstroke, and Wister, another Haverford boy, took the 50-yard breaststroke.

Italian Parents Are Entertained at School

It was with a great deal of pleasure that the Mothers' Council acted as hostess at a get-acquainted party for the parents of the Italian boys and girls attending the schools on Friday, March 8, 1929.

Not so far as is known has there been such a party given, and the 60 people who attended, 45 or more of whom were Italians, will not forget it very soon. The guests, as well as the hostess, were agreeably surprised and delighted with the program the children had prepared under the direction of Miss Fricke, and with the speaker, Miss Unti, whom Mrs. C. C. Tyson had brought from Philadelphia.

The credit for the great success of the party is due to the interest and co-operation of the teachers, the children themselves and to Mrs. C. C. Tyson, chairman of the Mothers' Council Committee.

From the comments and expressions of delight that were made by the fathers and mothers present as they became better acquainted with the teachers of their children, confidence was felt that this will not be their last visit to the school.

After the following program refreshments were served in the library of the school. Song in Italian, by a group of Italian boys and girls; a word of welcome, by Principal George H. Wilson; an accordion solo, by Patsy Mariani; song in Italian, by Italian boys and girls of fifth and sixth grades, and address in Italian by Miss Unti, of Philadelphia.

HEAR RECREATION PROBLEM DISCUSSED

Former Governor and Authority Speak at Luncheon at Penn A. C.

NARBERTHITES PRESENT

"It is the business of Government to make it easy for the people to do right and hard to do wrong." Quoting William E. Gladstone, former Governor Brumbaugh told a luncheon gathering at the Penn Athletic Club on Monday noon the history of the Playground and Recreational movement in Philadelphia and cited the great Englishman's definition of Government as the prime justification for a movement which has rapidly spread into almost all of the forty-eight States. A large number of Narberth citizens were in attendance at the special request of Charles H. English, Executive Director of the Philadelphia Playground Association, who is also a resident of Narberth.

Former Governor Brumbaugh pointed out that crime and moral dereliction of all kinds occurred only in the leisure hours of the citizenry and that the records of American labor conclusively prove that labor is almost entirely free from criminal stain. This is partly due, he went on to say, because legislation in the past was directed at throwing safeguards around labor. Owing to the fast-changing

Junior High Pupils Delight Parents With Musical Play of Old Holland

Pupils of the Junior High School for Thursday and Friday nights presented a legend of old Holland, "The Pirate's Daughter." About 150 were in the cast and aided by the Junior High Orchestra of 29 pieces they sang and danced splendidly. The auditorium was crowded with parents and friends who showed by their applause how well they enjoyed the performance.

Principal Edward H. Snow gave a few words of welcome on this occasion of the Fifth Annual Parents' Night, and told of the weeks of practice and time spent by the pupils and teachers to perfect the play.

The leading male part—that of Mr. Van Der Meer, a worthy Burgomaster—was ably played by Herbert Young. All his lines and songs were clearly given.

Anne Francis was Elsie, Mr. Van Der Meer's daughter. She has a lovely voice and sang several numbers. Marguerite Timberlake, as Jaqueline, the pirate's daughter, sang her way into the hearts of all men—especially Willberg's—the slippery secretary to the Burgomaster.

The play opened with an evening party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Der Meer, where a necromancer from India, Mahmat Singh, was to entertain the guests. He burned his soothing lotion which put everyone to sleep—all dreaming of Holland 300 years ago, and when pirates roamed the seas. How the Burgomaster foiled the pirates who desired to rob his chest of gold by being in the chest himself, was quite humorous.

DON'T BITE

Warnings to motorists urging them to refrain from placing advertisements in the year books of various constables' and magistrates' associations have been sent out recently by the Keystone Automobile Club.

Officials of this organization say solicitors representing the associations intimate to prospective advertisers they will have little to fear if arrested should they take space in the year books.

"Every year about this time," the warning reads, "a group of slick-tongued individuals claim they can get motorists out of difficulties if the motorist advertises in a magistrate's annual year book. This 'racket' has been exposed in the newspapers, but despite this, the solicitation is a yearly event.

"Our advice to motorists is to save their money. The alleged 'courtesies' never materialize and the threats are not worth noticing."

"STORY HOUR" AT LIBRARY POPULAR

One Hundred and Twenty Children Attend Hour Conducted by Miss Church

MORE COMING ANON

The attendance at the Library's first Children's Hour last Tuesday afternoon was about four times larger than had been expected by the most sanguine advocates of that extension of library work. More than 120 children, ranging from five to 12 years of age, attended. Some were accompanied by parents, a large delegation from St. Margaret's School were under the supervision of two of the teaching Sisters, but many were entirely self-directed, as was indicated by the fact that they began to congregate in and outside of the library nearly an hour before the appointed time.

The Recreation Board had assigned the American Legion room for this Children's "Story Hour," thinking that the kindergarten chairs would be particularly adapted to this juvenile work. The little chairs worked well as far as they would go. Other chairs were brought in regardless of size, but it was impossible to provide seats for all and after Miss Church, the librarian, had begun to tell the stories, it was necessary to close the doors against a few late arrivals.

As had been announced Miss Church told stories based upon Indian legends of the coming of spring, selected from books in the juvenile collection of the library. The quiet attention which she received from such a juvenile audience is the best indication that she was able to hold their complete interest. The attendance, however, demonstrated that it will probably be desirable to conduct future "story hours" for children divided into definite age groups. Detailed announcements of the plans for the next story hour will be made later.

Genealogy Compendium

The third volume of the Abridged Compendium of American Genealogy which has just been published by F. A. Virkus & Company of Chicago, contains the lineage records of Langdon C. Odiorne, of 210 Grayling avenue, and William C. Claghorn, of Chestnut avenue.

According to this volume Mr. Odiorne is descended in the ninth generation from John Odiorne (1627-1707), of Odiorne's Point, N. H., who married Mary Johnson, and in the eleventh generation from Tristram Coffin, who came from England in 1642 and was a founder of Nantucket, 1660, where he was chief magistrate in 1671.

Mr. Claghorn is descended in the tenth generation from James Claghorn, who came from Scotland to Barnstable, Mass., in 1653, and married Abia Lombard, and also from Joseph Winner, of Bucks county, Pa., whose son married Elizabeth Evans, the daughter of Captain Nathan Evans, who served in the American Revolution.

TUNNEL DISCUSSED AT COUNCIL MON.

Petition Necessary Before Borough Will Act in Matter

BUILDING WAS QUIET

Interest in the "tunnel under the railroad" project continues, as is evidenced by the informal discussion about it by Councilmen and citizens at the March meeting of the borough fathers on Monday night.

Whether such a tunnel would really be a benefit to Narberth, where it would be located, whether it would create traffic conditions akin to those at the Wynnewood station, or whether it would tend to solve the problem of traffic congestion, were some of the points discussed.

Council made it clear to the citizens present who favored such a project that a petition should be presented showing a reasonable amount of public sentiment in support of the tunnel before Council would take steps to put it on the ballot at either the primaries or the general election.

Building operations in the borough were quiet during the month of February to judge from the number of permits issued by the building inspector, eight being the total, chiefly for garages and new roofs. The estimated cost of the operations was $18,425, the borough collecting $29 for permits issued.

The recommendation of the Highway and Sewer Committee advocating the placing of rubbish receptacles in the business district was passed. This and other routine matters are related in more detail in the report of the Highway and Sewer Committee which follows:

"The Burgess has brought to our attention the desirability of placing rubbish receptacles in the Haverford avenue business district and in the vicinity of the station. The Burgess reports that this is the desire of the merchants and of the police officials. The similar receptacles which were placed in that district some years ago by the Civic Association demonstrated the value of such a procedure and were steadily used until they wore out. We, therefore, recommend that this committee be authorized to expend not more than $150 to procure at least six such receptacles and to place them in locations which meet the approval of those persons who are

Sub-Juniors to Hear Mrs. Drew on Books

Another pleasant evening is anticipated at the meeting of the Narberth Sub-Junior Community Club to be held Monday evening, March 18, at 7.30 o'clock in the club room at Elm Hall, when Mrs. Ernest C. Drew, of Moreno road, will address the club members and their friends on the subject of books. Mrs. Drew has been connected with the Narberth Community Library and her talk should be most instructive and entertaining.

The Rev. R. E. Keighton, who was the last speaker to appear before the club, proved a most delightful entertainer and gave a talk which was inspiring and one long to be remembered by those who heard it. A lengthy discussion followed the talk, with Mr. Keighton as the center of interest. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, the Misses Dot Miller and Jane Murray.

Open House Tonight

"A big time" for all is promised the residents of Narberth this Friday night at the Legion room of the Community Building, when the Legion will celebrate the 15th anniversary of the founding of the organization in Paris. It will be an open house affair with a cordial invitation extended to all the community to participate in the entertainment. Refreshments and dancing will feature the evening. The ladies of the Legion Auxiliary are co-operating to help make the evening a success. Commander W. Russell Green anticipates one of the biggest events in the history of the Harold D. Speakman Post.

Letter to Editor NOT IN NARBERTH

To the Editor of Our Town:

When the Philadelphia papers emblazoned the Rokeby Kennel Club raid on their front pages last week and stated that the club was in Narberth, I considered it regrettable, but probably unavoidable, but when you also stated that the moral sore-spot was in Narberth that was unpardonable. You should know the boundaries of the community from which you draw your subsistence and be more alert to defend them. Since social boundaries are occasionally drawn about us by others, let us be accurate in drawing the real and especially the moral boundaries. The kennel club, as nearly everyone knows, is located outside of Narberth in Lower Merion township and the township police are to be highly commended for their descent upon it.

Lecture at School

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter N. S. D. A. R. will sponsor a stereoscopic slide lecture for the school children at Narberth school on Tuesday, March 19. The subject will be "Early Romances in American History."

"Sport on the Plank" or Horserace Described

The following account of a horse race appeared in a Norristown paper, now out of existence, sometime between 1850 and 1870. Some of the old residents may be able to recall the event described. At any rate, it is a good tale and gains added interest coming out of a dim past.

On last Monday week a pacing match, mile heats, best two in three, for $1000, came off over the Haverford Plank road, in Lower Merion township, this county, between the Black Pony owned by Mr. William Michener, of Blue Bell, this county, and the celebrated Trenton Mare, owned by Mr. Doble, and which took the first premium among the pacers at the famous Doylestown Exhibition. A similar match came off between these two nags, in New Jersey, some few weeks since, for a purse of $600.

The mare, upon that occasion, won the race, to the especial delight of the Trentonians and the discomfiture of the representatives from Old Montgomery. The confidence of the latter in the speed of their nag, (which is about the size of a large "barn rat," but with an amazing amount of "spunk," to make up for lack of fleshy material) was unshaken, and the defeat of their horse was attributed entirely to the heaviness of the track. Accordingly, another match, for $1000, was made, to come off over the Haverford Plank road, at the time above mentioned. The mare was the favorite at the start. Bets of a $100 against $50 were offered by the Trentonians, but which were promptly taken by the backers of the horse. The result proved, that upon a hard track, the horse had too much foot for the mare—having won the race with comparative ease. The time made by the horse is said to have been inside of 2.30. Considerable money changed hands—the Trentonians being relieved of pretty much all the loose change they had with them.

Another match came off the same day over the same ground, between two amateur trotters—one representing Norristown, and the other Upper Merion township—for a purse of $100. Norristown proved victorious. Time immense, 3.80! G'lang!—Norristown Watch.

Federation of Churches

Gives Aid to Unemployed

The unemployment situation on the Main Line as reported by Miss Alice Ambler, Executive Secretary, at Tuesday night's meeting of the Main Line Federation of Churches has been and continues to be acute. Forty men and 38 women came to the Federation office seeking employment during February. Four families, threatened with eviction for non-payment of rent due to lack of employment, were helped to retain their homes. Material relief was given by the Federation to 32 families during the month.

The Executive Committee gave careful attention to this situation which comes at a time when its funds are depleted. Contributions may be sent to the Federation office in the Memorial Building, Bryn Mawr.

Skelton Takes Over Cranston Coal Yard

Bala-Cynwyd's oldest business house was purchased by one of its competitors last week. Announcement to that effect was made this week by Joseph J. Skelton, Jr., who is the new owner of Joseph M. Cranston's coal, wood and building material business, Bala avenue above Highland avenue.

The sale, which has become effective as of March 1, was consummated by arrangement with the Pennsylvania Railroad, from whom the former Cranston coal yard is leased, with Henry B. McLaughlin, president of the Bala-Cynwyd National Bank, acting as attorney. The consideration has not been disclosed.

Established in 1895, before any other business house in Bala-Cynwyd that now exists, and before most on the Main Line as well, Cranston's yard at first contained a feed store, which since burned down.

J. J. Skelton, Jr., has maintained his coal yard in Bala-Cynwyd for ten years. To the rear of the Egyptian Theater, it adjoins that of Cranston's. Newer and more modern than the Cranston yard, it will be maintained in addition to it.

BENGAL GAS RANGE

Here is a gas range about which you, too, will be enthusiastic, for everything that has been done to add to its appearance was first designed to accomplish some important feature... convenience or sanitation. Come in and see how nearly this range approaches perfection, with its beautiful finish in gray and white enamel, specially designed utility drawer, concealed hinges, and its one-piece casting for the main front, giving a flush finish at doors and corners. Hidden, also, are the pipes required for the Robertshaw AutomatiCook, a little mechanical device which eliminates the necessity of adjusting the gas or inspecting the foods while they are cooking. Simply and durably constructed, it will give years of satisfactory service. Prices: With oven heat control, $81.50; without oven heat control, $66.75.

With Each Other!

UNDER the new Plan which will be instituted by the undersigned banks in Ardmore, Narberth, and Bala-Cynwyd, your bank does not ask you to build up your account in order that it will be profitable to the bank, but asks only that you build it to where it will about carry its own way—by maintaining an average daily balance of $100.

AN average daily balance does not mean that you must have $100 in the bank each day. Suppose, for instance, that you deposit $225 on the first day of the month and check it out by reasonable stages during the month. Your Account will then average $100 for the month.

AN officer of your Bank will be glad to explain this more fully to you at any time. You are cordially urged to discuss it with us.

Oil—A Fountain of Youth for Motorcars

Why is one car so much better in every way than another of the same age and mileage?
Because it has received regular and correct attention; because it has been oiled and greased every 500 miles; because it has been kept clean; and because the driver has been considerate of the limitations of machinery.
Let our lubrication expert grease your Dodge or Graham Brothers Truck by the high pressure system every 500 miles. You'll find it will prevent many dollars of repair bills.

CONVENIENT CO-OPERATION CUTS COSTS FRIENDLY

People who like your goods come back to buy again. That's understandable. Human wants and desires are many, and they are increasing. People want good goods, and they go where they can get them. The phenomenal growth of this business since its inception fifteen years ago is proof that the housewives of Narberth like our merchandise and our methods, and it is a genuine pleasure to observe patron come back again and again. We are dedicated to the idea of rendering an improved food service to you. To conduct a store not in the ordinary sense, but to make this business Narberth's logical PURE FOOD MARKET. We have won a patronage far beyond our ambitious expectations, but most important, we want the confidence of the community, and that means everything.
We shall hold and respect that confidence through continued good service and worthy merchandise.

What TWIN IGNITION Does

THE New Nash Twin-Ignition motor has two big aircraft spark plugs for each cylinder, instead of the ordinary single plug, as you can see in the simplified diagram above.

Both plugs fire simultaneously. The gas vapor is ignited at two points instead of the usual one. One effect is quicker combustion, which produces more power, more speed, much faster acceleration.

Another result is, more uniform combustion, which helps to create the very noticeable smoothness and rhythm of Nash motor performance.

And still another result of Twin Ignition is more efficient combustion, which prevents wasted fuel.

With Twin Ignition, instead of single ignition, higher compression is practical, and the same Nash motor produces 9½ more horsepower, 5 miles an hour more speed, and 2 extra miles from every gallon of gasoline you buy.

The Old Main Line

The following historical sketch, which will be printed serially, was written by Margaret B. Harvey, and originally published in a volume issued by the Historical Society of Montgomery County in 1895. Entitled "Something About Lower Merion," it traces the history of the township from its beginnings to the 1890's with many delightful digressions.

INSTALLMENT V

The antique disguised, modernized mansion near the entrance to Billy Penn's road, gave shelter to Lord Cornwallis for a short time preceding the massacre at Paoli. He was waiting here for a Tory, who had volunteered to conduct him along this same Gulf road to the Gulf Mill, just over the line in Upper Merion, where the Americans had concealed their stores of ammunition. Cornwallis' subsequent career is better known. With only a field or two between the entrance to the road and the settlement stands the tiny changing village of Libertyville, believed to be almost identical with the oldest settlement in the State, claiming to have been founded nearly a year in advance of either Chester or Philadelphia.

From the pre-historic Indian trail the Gulf road winds down among hills and woods towards the rich and charming valley of Mill creek. It passes a long neglected farm, with once pretentious mansion and a then-considered elegant lodge gate. This farm, until recent years, was the last remnant of land in southeastern Pennsylvania held by the Penn family, in that branch of the proprietor's descendants known as Penn-Gaskell. And now the road approaches Mill creek, crossing it by an antique stone bridge, having shingled walls for parapets, as was the old style in Pennsylvania. Upon the right-hand side still stands a very primitive saw-mill. Upon the left is a deep hollow, said to have been the cellar of a pre-revolutionary grist-mill, which gained, during the troublous days of the struggle for independence, a very bad reputation. This, however, is a mistake, as will be seen further on.

Do not be deceived by the fork in the road. The ancient highway, surveyed by Friend William himself, turned up the creek. The way down the stream is comparatively modern, although we should find much of interest if we traveled that road, mainly a series of picturesque mills nestled among the grand hills, clear down to the Schuylkill. What would probably interest us most would be the very dingy manufactory, in which, in its better days, Deringer made his famous pistols. But we cannot pause now. With a pretty farm house upon our right and an equally pretty meadow upon our left, we will turn up the creek, as our Quaker forerunner did. The semi-mountainous woodland scenery is similarly lovely upon both sides of our way. We soon approach a cluster of old mills, and equally old, if not older, houses. One of these latter is another of the now rare but formerly abundant, gray stone country mansions. Before I tell you its history, look down in the hollow at the patched up, but still habitable, log house. This is nearly 200 years of age, and was, it is said, built and occupied by a civilized and converted Indian.

Do you remember my saying that Lord Cornwallis waited for a Tory to conduct him to the Gulf, or Gulph, as it was then written? This Tory lived in this same old stone mansion, standing very much as he left it. Now, Tories were not always the wicked monsters that we younger Americans imagine them. In Pennsylvania at least, they were mostly good honest Quakers, who deprecated war, prayed for peace and were conscientiously loyal to their kind. This Tory was said to be such; a member of the Merion meeting. His remains are probably buried in the Friends' graveyards there. The name of John Roberts has been, it may be, unjustly covered with infamy. Certain it is that he was tried and convicted of treason, for aiding and abetting Cornwallis, and hanged in Philadelphia, and not, as popularly believed, in his own apple orchard, still haunted by his ghost. Another popular belief regarding him has some foundation of fact, so it is said. The same John Roberts ground glass with flour in his own grist mill to feed American soldiers. In this he was aided by a miller named Fishburn, whose modernized stone cottage stands upon the newer Gulf road, near the present town of Bryn Mawr. The mill, whose cellar may be seen hard by the weather beaten saw-mill, is said by some to be the one in which the dark deed was accomplished. But better authority states that the still standing structure, nearly opposite Robert's house, and now used as a stable, is the one. The white flour, hiding murderous particles sharper than steel, was providentially prevented from doing harm, though for the intent to kill, as well as adherence to Cornwallis, John Roberts paid the penalty. His residence later became the property of Blair McClenahan, the Irish patriot, whose services to the country during the war of 1812 ought never to be forgotten by any grateful American.

ing conditions in our economic life, however, he stated his belief that the legislation of the future will tend toward the protection of civilization in its leisure hours instead of its hours of labor. This necessity brought about the organized movement for educating the people and particularly the children to use the hours of leisure with profit and joy to themselves and honor and security to the State. "Instead of making it easy for the people to do right we have done the opposite," he declared, and as an example he questioned his hearers as to the number of places of pleasure and pastime for both children and grownups "whose doors are wide open in the leisure hours into which our children can enter and participate and come out as clean and fresh as when they entered. It seems as though only the agencies of moral and spiritual uplift closed their doors when the leisure of the people begins," he said.

Another speaker on the program was Jay B. Nash, Associate Professor of Physical Education at New York University and a nationally known authority on the Playground and Recreational movement in America. Mr. Nash gave an interesting talk on the rapid growth of this particular welfare work since its organization in 1886 down to the present day and he impressed all by his sincerity and the purposeful way he delivered his message. In declaring that the trend of municipal growth in modern times has robbed the children of their greatest heritage—"the great outdoors," he entered a plea for the restoration of that heritage to the children in the shape of protected areas of play with competent leadership for the creation of joy and character-building.

Defining Education as "the Art of producing changes in the lives of people," he asked his hearers not to confuse education with schooling. A child of twelve years, if thrust into the environment of a vicious neighborhood gang, will develop the gang traits. On the other hand, a similar youngster, placed in an environment of competent leadership with moral, civic and right motives as the guiding principles, will grow into usefulness and strength in the community.

"Character traits are susceptible to environment in youth," he declared, "and so the organized Educational Play movement is the modern answer to the challenge of modern youth."

Those from Narberth who heard the speakers felt well repaid and came away with greater interest in the movement as it may be applied to the children of this community.

concerned. "During February we collected 931 cubic yards of ashes and rubbish at a total cost of $842.12. The cost of operating the snow plow and overtime labor in clearing away the snow from the business sections amounted to $123.36. In addition, by authorization of the Burgess, we cleaned the snow from the sidewalks abutting vacant houses and lots at a cost of $8.20, which is to be collected from the owners of those properties.

"The detailed wall map of the borough, which this committee was previously authorized to procure, has been completed by the borough engineers and is now permanently placed in the Council chamber.

"Incidental expenses of the month not previously reported, included: $117.36 for street cleaning; $12.24 for labor and $39 for two iron manhole covers for storm-sewer repairs on Wynne-dale avenue; $24.80 for cleaning roots of the main sewer on Wood-side avenue, between Chestnut and Narberth avenues."

D. A. R. to Meet

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold its regular meeting Monday, March 18, at 2.30 P. M., at the home of Mrs. H. G. Vennemann, of 212 Hampden avenue, Narberth. The regent, Mrs. Charles M. Irwin, will preside. Mrs. John I. McGuigan, State Chairman of Publicity, will be the guest of the chapter and speak on some phase of publicity.

Among the Business Men

The "Easter Bazaar" of easter goods now on display at Davis' store is well worth a look. Eggs of all kinds and descriptions, together with the greatest assemblage of novelties, bunnies, chicks, etc., most of them made in Germany, vie with one another. An extra amount of space is being devoted to the display which is unparalleled in the history of Narberth's oldest store.

Two exceptionally attractive windows catch the eye as one reaches the corner of Haverford and Narberth avenues on the south side of the street; those of the Narberth Coal Company. In one, electric lights flash continuously on a map of the Main Line. The moral being that the towns from Overbrook to Villa Nova are constant and increasing users of Jeddo-Highland coal. In the other, attractively labeled samples are displayed.

A new electric sign flashing forth the message, "Victor and Radio," was installed by the J. Richard Shyrock Co., at 223 Haverford avenue this week. Besides carrying the Victor line of records and Orthophonic victrolas, R. C. A. Radiolas, Atwater Kent and Majestic radios are stocked. Mr. Shyrock has another store in Wynnefield at the intersection of Bryn Mawr and Wynnefield avenues.

The digging up of the sidewalks on North Narberth avenue near the bridge this week foreshadows the installation of an Atlantic Gas tank by C. P. Cook, of the Narberth Bridge Garage. Not content with handling Texaco Gas, Miller, Dunlop, and Goodyear tires, Mr. Cook now puts in Atlantic gas for the convenience of his patrons.

A 270 acre tract at Cape May Court House in Jersey, was recently acquired by A. E. Wohlert, owner of the Garden Nurseries. The purposes the new acquisition will be devoted to have not yet been disclosed by Mr. Wohlert.

Those who by chance or foresight visited the Flower Shop on Monday of this week were amply rewarded with a beautiful rose; the day being the second anniversary of the founding of the enterprise. An exceptionally fine stock of cut flowers and potted plants will be on hand for the Easter flower shoppers.

Grace Werner, Andrew Simpson, William Horning and Edith Diehl acted as student managers.

Snow to Speak

The regular monthly meeting of the Mothers' Council will be held Monday, March 18, 1929, 8 o'clock, in the Narberth School. E. H. Snow, Principal of Lower Merion Junior High School, will speak on "The Changing Environment and Its Effect on Our Children." All parents are very cordially invited to attend this meeting and greet Mr. Snow.

Observe Music Work

Last Wednesday, at the Narberth school, Miss Jeannette Ferris and her class of 14 from Combs Conservatory, Broad street, Philadelphia, spent the day observing Miss Frances Fricke in "School Methods." This does not mean the close of Miss Fricke's work. It does mean that Miss Fricke's work is considered to be the kind that students should observe while training for music supervisors.

JUNIOR HIGH WINS CHANCE FOR TITLE

Lower Merion Beats Radnor,
18-13, in Suburban
League Playoff

FACES WEST CHESTER

Coach Fowler's Lower Merion Junior High School basketball team defeated Radnor Junior High, 18 to 13, last Tuesday afternoon at the Haverford College Gymnasium in the first of the triple-play-off games for the championship of the Suburban Junior High School League.

It was not until the final five minutes of the contest that the Orange and Black forged ahead by a single point, quickly bolstered with another foul toss and two field goals to salt away the game.

D'Orisio, of Radnor, put the Wayne team in the lead in the first five minutes with three field goals from long range. At the end of the first quarter his teammates had helped him with another basket and Radnor led 8 to 2. Lower Merion gradually closed the gap and at half-time the teams were more evenly matched, with a score of Radnor, 10, and Lower Merion, 7.

The Ardmore boys outscored their opponents 11 to 3 in the final half. Radnor was unable to score from the field in the final half due to the defense work of Captain Shillingford and his teammates.

Also were denied reports that Mr. Patchett has the support of John O'Dell, proprietor of the General Wayne Inn. Interviewed this week, Mr. O'Dell remarked that he has for years been a friend of Mr. Patchett, but declared that he is doing no more to boost his friend's candidacy than are the other signers of his petition, who are said to be numbered in hundreds.

Among the petition's signers are John W. Crolley, William Clayton Jones, W. E. Garrett Gilmore and Daniel A. Newhall. Many are neighboring residents of the Winding Way section of Merion, which is included in the General Wayne election district.

Attorney Green's supporters include many who are identified with borough of Narberth community life, but who are residents and voters in the General Wayne district, north of Montgomery pike in Lower Merion township. Some of them held a meeting Monday night, at which presided Mrs. Florence Carter, L. M. Republican committee-woman from the General Wayne election district, and assistant to Township Leader Peter C. Hess at the township treasurer's office in Ardmore.

Other residents supporting Mr. Green include J. Bedford Wooley, architect, and Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, president of the Narberth Community Club. The Green adherents assert their petition bears many names of residents throughout their entire district.

It is expected that the three county court judges, as provided by law, will consider the petitions of both candidates in the near future.

Girl Scout News

Conducted by Mrs. Victor I. Zelov

At the District No. 8 inspection contest and court awards held recently at the Merion Tribute House, the Wayne Troop was found to be the "best groomed" and was awarded the "Harrison Cup," which was presented to the district several years ago, and which is competed for annually. Merit badges galore were awarded. In several instances, six and eight were won by one Scout. All together it was a gala day, full of pep.

A Girl Scout festival in which every Scout in Philadelphia's eight districts will take part is to be held in the Palestra on May 25. It is estimated that over 4000 Scouts will participate. Music and dancing will be features, and the whole event is in charge of Miss Olveda Schrotky, national head of dramatics, who has come on from New York to put it on.

Wayne Troop, No. 131, Miss Beatrice Teas, captain, captured 13 of the merit badges at the court of awards, besides the "Harrison Cup." The homemaker badge seemed to be the most popular. A new patrol was recently added. Merit badge work and tests are keeping the troop mighty busy—looking ahead!

Narberth Troop, No. 8, Mrs. John C. Nash, captain; Mrs. Cook, lieutenant; is making plans for a large card party in the near future, with refreshments, prizes and service supreme! Also they are planning to get the greatest number of merit badges at the next court of awards.

Haverford Troop, No. 120, Miss Julia Williamson, captain; Mrs. Henry Booth, lieutenant; has received three new Scouts recently. Mary Twaddell "flew up" from the Brownies and Catherine Shaffer and Elizabeth Keen have taken their tenderfoot tests and been invested. Scout Mary Booth received her second-class badge.

Library Receives Valuable Donation

The Library has received this week a very interesting and instructive book on early American Glass. The book is the gift of The Fortnightly Club of Narberth, of which Miss Bird Roberts is president. Each year the club has made a similar gift to the library till at present the list of their contributions includes such attractive and valuable books as "Practical Book of Chinaware," by Eberlein; "Practical Book of Period Furniture," by Eberlein; "Practical Book of Oriental Rugs," by G. G. Lewis; "Quilts, Their Story and How to Make Them," by Webster.

The book on Early American Glass is written by Rhea Mansfield Knittle, one of a small but persistent group of collectors and students who have been delving into ruins of old glass factories, records of historical societies, newspaper files, and similar sources, for material on the subject. No complete treatise is yet written since not enough is certain to make it possible for even authorities to agree on identification. This book however brings together what has been accepted on the subject up to date.

The author emphasizes the three houses of Wistar, Steigel and Sandwich as all writers do, but recognizes others also of importance. She goes to great lengths to explain how the Bohemians, Venetians, Dutchmen, Englishmen, and Germans brought with them the arts and traditions of the old world, and while they were struggling with the handicaps of the new world, evolved new types with a different texture, form and decoration, producing an art distinctly American. At the same time, she states that Waterford glass made here in this country by a worker who had been a leading cutter in the Waterford factory in Ireland, produced specimens so like the original that even the owners of the plant could not always tell the difference.

In the book the author deals quite fully with the glass factories of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, describing the products as being of great beauty and purity, mentioning, of course, the Steigel glass in particular, of which the Philadelphia Museum has a remarkable collection. It is slightly disappointing to amateurs to learn that they may not be able to identify the specimens in their own choice collections since the early workers did not use distinguishing marks. The book is well illustrated and as a result anyone who has read it will handle even more guardedly than before the few old pieces of glass in her possession.

Benefit Next Week

The benefit of the Evangel Circle of King's Daughters will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 18, 19 and 20, at the Narberth Theater. Tickets may be had from Mrs. F. H. Hewitt, 116 Sussex avenue.
